No More Knee Pain

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 10

Michael Messieh, MD | Orthopedic Surgery

As we age, the cartilage in our knees gradually erodes – joints become stiff, swollen and painful and don't move easily. Knee osteoarthritis, the most frequent form of lower extremity arthritis, affects about half of all adult Americans. Join Dr. Messieh as he discusses the side approach to knee replacement. With a unique side incision, muscles are spared so there's usually less pain after surgery and faster recovery. RSVP BIC
